

Common sources of toxins include:

- Nonstick cookware
- Heavy metals and chemicals in drinking water
- Weed killers and pesticides
- Mercury Amalgam dental fillings
- Car exhaust and air pollution
- BPA from plastics
- Phthalates and perfumes from shampoo and lotions
- Artificial sweeteners
- Food colorings
- Artificial flavorings

Common Signs That Toxins Are Affecting Your Health Include

- You might experience brain fog – a “heaviness” in your head that prevents you from being able to think clearly.
- You might feel overly tired and fatigued – even though you’re getting 8+ hours of sleep every night.
- You might have persistent skin problems like blemishes or acne.<sup>19</sup>
- You might have food sensitivities or allergy-like symptoms even when pollen counts are low.
- You might experience sudden weight gain of 10 lbs or more.
- You might have imbalances that cause hot flashes, mood swings, and irregular cycles.
- Or... you might find yourself unable to lose weight no matter how much you diet and exercise.

And that's just the start!

Believe it or not, this list barely scratches the surface.

It's bad enough that toxins are everywhere.

But the real bad news is how these toxins affect your body.

Under normal circumstances, your gut, liver, and kidneys work hard to flush out toxins.

GUT

KIDNEYS

And your body keeps up... until it doesn't.

You need to keep your body strong and healthy so it's able to defend against the constant stream of "invaders."

Unfortunately, for many people like me, their bodies just can't keep up with the toxic load of daily life.

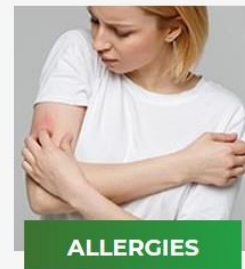

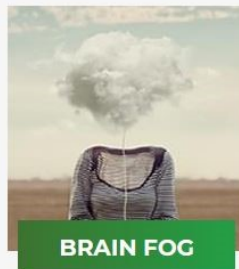

The toxins are coming in faster than your liver and body can process and remove them.

The fancy word for this is...

"BIOACCUMULATION"

And guess what?

The bioaccumulation of toxins in the body often leads to fatigue, brain fog, weight gain, allergies, and many other "hard to diagnose" health issues.

Stored toxins can also mess up your hormones<sup>3</sup> — including estrogen, thyroid, and cortisol — making it almost impossible to lose weight.<sup>4</sup>

Soon...Your body becomes weighted down with the effects of accumulated toxins!

CELL DEFENDER :

Cell Defender is the only micronized and activated zeolite colloidal suspension in the world. It is the original colloidal clinoptilolite zeolite product and is supported by over a dozen clinical studies – including trials published in peer-reviewed journals. The zeolite is like a tiny, negatively-charged cage that pulls in a variety of toxic substances in the body and forces their excretion. This includes heavy metals (mercury, lead, etc...) as well as volatile organic compounds (benzene, dioxin, etc.). This process results in a healthier environment throughout the body as a cleaner and healthier body fixes itself.

Cell Defender has been clinically proven to: Help remove heavy metals, toxins, and other substances from the body; Support a healthy immune system; and Help balance pH levels in the body. Cell Defender is 100 percent natural and non-toxic – and safe for long-term use.

How Cell Defender Works

Cell Defender (CD) Is a colloidal Suspension of activated Zeolite produced, marketed, and distributed by Pure Raw Supplies. CD contains Clinoptilolite as the constituent Zeolite, A naturally occurring sodium Aluminosilicate. The difference between Cell Defender and all other Zeolite colloidal suspension is that Rik Deitsch has developed an activation and micronizing proprietary process. This process results in zeolite particles sized as low as .39 microns which enables the zeolite to enter the bloodstream. In the white paper it will describe how this zeolite in the bloodstream removes heavy metals and toxins (proven in peer reviewed studies) which help improve the immune system so that the immune system is freed up. As Rik Deitsch says “ A healthy body can repair itself“. To Avini’s knowledge, no other company has ever been able to match the act of entering the bloodstream as efficiently as Cell Defender. Additionally, the zeolite suspension increases pH level to 7.4 which is important to the processes in the body. Significantly, viruses and cancer cells need an acidic environment to procreate, and the basic environment created by the zeolite will reduce their ability to reproduce. This product has had sales of millions of bottles in the last 17 years.
