

One of the worst hidden fat magnets are Obesogens, which are chemicals that force your body to gain pounds.

Basically, Obesogens hurt you in three awful ways:

1. By disrupting your metabolism, causing your body to make new and larger fat cells...
2. By blocking fat cells from releasing stored fat to burn as energy...
3. By altering your eating habits so you crave unhealthy, fattening foods...

If you're trying to reach and maintain a healthy weight, Obesogens are public enemy #1.

Unfortunately, these nasty fat magnets are everywhere. You're exposed to Obesogens every day in:

- Plastic food storage containers
- Plastic toys
- Nonstick cookware
- Personal care products
- Cleaning supplies
- Pesticides
- Processed food additives: preservatives, emulsifiers, flavor enhancers, high fructose corn syrup

And that list is just the tip of the iceberg.

If you're frustrated because you're trying to reach a healthier weight and it's just not happening, or...Maybe you do manage to lose a few pounds but they always come back, then...
